Author of “100 Things To Do In America Before You Die” Book Set to Speak April 27 at Library

CAMBRIDGE, OHIO (April 16, 2018) – National travel journalist, author and broadcaster Bill Clevlen will make a stop in Cambridge on April 27th beginning at 7 p.m. at the Crossroads Branch Library. The stop is part of his Rediscover America Road Trip Tour.

Clevlen's latest book 100 Things To Do In America Before You Die features 100 uniquely American experiences, including Kennedy's Bakery in Cambridge. Clevlen will talk about why he picked the bakery, along with some of the other experiences in the book. He will also share fun stories about traveling across the U.S. and play trivia games with the audience.

“Since the founding of our country, the neighborhood bakery has played an important role in not only fresh bread and treats - but often as a place to visit with neighbors and friends,” said Clevlen. “Kennedy's Bakery is known worldwide for their delicious creations, and the owners perfectly represent the hard working and dedicated people that typically operate small town bakeries across the U.S. Food has become an important part of travel, and I hope that readers include Cambridge and Kennedy's Bakery when they're traveling through Ohio.”

The book will be available for sale following the presentation. The event is free and open to the public.
