Cambridge, Ohio (August 20, 2025) – The Anna Asbury Stone Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution invites the community to explore the original story of the American system of government at a free public screening of the new feature film, The American Constitution, on September 16, 2025 from 5:30-7:30pm at the Crossroads Library 63500 Byesville Rd. Cambridge, OH 43725.

The film, from award-winning filmmaker David Garrigus, dramatizes the creation of one of history's most influential documents. Following the screening, attendees will have the special opportunity to participate in a live Q&A session with the film's writer and director.

“We are thrilled to bring this powerful film to our community,” said Judy Bickford, Regent of the Anna Asbury Stone Chapter. “Understanding the principles that shaped our government is more important than ever, and this event is a wonderful opportunity for our neighbors to engage in that vital conversation.”
